

Find more of the information you need—in less time
With the newest lexis.com® enhancements

Soon, the lexis.com® service will have a new look and be even easier to use. It will be refreshed and more streamlined. More importantly, it will help you get to the information you need faster and get the most for your firm's legal research dollars. Some highlights of the upcoming enhancements:

- A Fewer tabs for a cleaner, more modern look and to help you get to the information you need with fewer clicks and in less time—note that former search sub-tabs appear at the top of the page.
- B A new “More” tab provides easy access to related products and services such as Lexis® Transactional Advisor, LexisNexis® Total Litigator, Counsel Selector, LexisNexis® Dossier, and more.
- C Tools for activities that researchers do most every day—Get a Document, Shepardize®, Find a Source, Recently Used Sources, Quick Search, etc.—will appear in easy-to-access locations on most pages.
- D Our open-Web product, Lexis® Web, will be integrated into lexis.com so you benefit from the combination of better free content and reliable LexisNexis content in a single research service.
- E History and Alerts will be accessible conveniently at the top-right corner of the screen.

The screenshot displays the Lexis.com website interface with several callouts highlighting enhancements:

- A: Points to the 'Search' dropdown menu in the top navigation bar.
- B: Points to the 'More' dropdown menu in the top navigation bar.
- C: Points to the 'Quick Tools' section on the right side of the page.
- D: Points to the 'Lexis@Web' button in the 'Quick Tools' section.
- E: Points to the 'History' and 'Alerts' buttons in the top right corner.

The interface includes a top navigation bar with 'Search', 'Get a Document', 'Shepard's', and 'More' tabs. Below this is a sub-tab bar with 'All', 'Legal', 'News & Business', 'Public Records', 'Bankruptcy', and 'Ohio'. The main content area is divided into 'Sources' (with 'My Sources' and 'News and Business' sub-sections) and 'Quick Search' (with 'Select Jurisdiction', 'Select Practice Area', and 'Source Categories' options). The 'Quick Tools' section includes a search input field and buttons for 'Get a Doc', 'Shepardize', 'Find a Source', and 'Lexis@Web'. The 'Recently Used Sources' section shows 'Federal & State Cases' with a 'Go' button. The top right corner features 'Custom ID: -None-', 'Switch Client', 'Preferences', 'Help', and 'Sign Out' links.

- F Customized pages by practice area or jurisdiction will highlight more relevant content and tools included in your firm's subscription so all researchers are more aware of everything available to them—making it easier to choose the best source or tool.
- G Easy access to relevant Practice Center content such as content-sensitive Form Finders, Search by Task, Featured Legislative Sources from source views, etc.
- H New drop-down lists will let you get more directly to information formerly located within sub-tabs—from any location, including results views.

And you won't have to change a thing! Basic features and functions will stay the same, so no system upgrades or modifications will be necessary. Any preferences you've set up will carry over to the new interface automatically—no effort on your part to re-create them! Best of all, there will be no price increase associated with these new enhancements.
