

Welcome to Lexis® Advance for Law Schools BETA, designed to transform the way you conduct legal research. Reference these Quick Tips to get the most out of your access to the system.

HOME PAGE

Return to the Home Page anytime by clicking here.

Federated search capability means faster results across all content sets.

Save time with pre-search filter sets: content, jurisdiction, and practice area or topic.

You can navigate more quickly and save search results to Folders for easier access and organization.

Get back to the Law School Home Page quickly with the Law School Home link. Navigation is on every page.

Click the Shepard's® tab and enter your citation to quickly retrieve your Shepard's report.

Lexis® Advance requires Internet Explorer®8 or Mozilla Firefox® 3.5 browsers for optimum performance.

SEARCH RESULTS

Persistent tabs enable you to return to your original search results with one click, saving you valuable time.

Narrow your search results quickly with post-search filters.

Determine which documents to view using the excerpts in your search results.

View previous searches, and save your results right where you're working, with My Workspace.

Use Web to search Lexis® Web—law-related websites—without needing to check the Google™ source.

Sort documents a number of ways using Sort by. Or click the column headers to sort.

FULL-TEXT DOCUMENT

Save, send, or format for a local printer here.

Go to a specific area of the document with Jump to.

Change pagination with the Reporter menu, or select a reporter at the top of the document.

See your search results while continuing to work in the same window. Just hover over the highlighted document to reveal more information.

Lexis Advance Law Schools BETA interface showing the full-text document for Kuha v. City of Minnetonka. The document is from the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, dated October 7, 2002. The case involves a plaintiff (Jeffrey M. Kuha) and defendants (William Roth, Kevin Anderson, Dennis Warosh). The document includes a summary of the case, a list of core terms, and a procedural posture. The interface also shows a search bar, document title, court information, date, docket number, and reporter. A 'Tools' panel on the right offers options like 'Copy citation', 'Copy text', 'Copy to clipboard', and 'Save to folder'. A 'Legal Issue Trail - Beta' panel is also visible.

Close the panel to show more of the document.

Save text in a folder by highlighting it and saving it right where you're working.

View similar documents on an issue or point of law, and see the many relationships relating to your legal issue, with Legal Issue Trail (Beta).

SHEPARD'S CITATIONS SERVICE

The Shepard's report is broken into three categories for convenience.

Shepard's Signals™ are shown to easily determine treatment of the case.

The editorial analyses and headnotes in Citing Decisions appear in the left panel filter.

Lexis Advance Law Schools BETA interface showing the Shepard's Citations Service for Kuha v. City of Minnetonka. The interface displays a list of citing decisions, including Blake v. City of New York, Escobar v. City of New York, Cardona v. Connolly, and Moore v. Vangelo. The left panel shows filters for 'Analysis', 'Warning', 'Questioned', 'Caution', 'Positive', 'Neutral', and 'Cited by'. The right panel shows the 'Subsequent Appellate History' section.

The information box provides a one-sentence description of Subsequent Appellate History to enable you to understand how your case has subsequently been treated.

For more information contact your LexisNexis® Account Executive or visit www.lexisnexis.com/myschool