SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This microfilm publication presents the Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Central Classified Files, 1907–1939, Series C: Indian Health and Medical Affairs, Part 2, Diseases, filmed from the holdings of the National Archives and Records Administration. This collection consists of the documents composing decimal numbers 702 (quarantines), 705 (tuberculosis), 706 (trachoma), 707 (venereal disease), 710 (sanitation), 730 (diseases and injuries), and 731 (epidemics). The files are organized by decimal number, and thereunder by name of the tribe or agency. Documents on quarantines, tuberculosis, trachoma, and venereal disease can be found on Reels 1 through 3. Materials relating to sanitation are on Reels 3 through 6; diseases and injuries and epidemics are covered on Reels 6 through 12. The collection includes correspondence from doctors and Bureau of Indian Affairs personnel, both at the various Indian Agencies and at the Bureau of Indian Affairs office in Washington, D.C. Major correspondents include F. H. Abbott, E. J. Armstrong, Leo S. Bonnin, Charles H. Burke, John Collier, J. H. Dortch, John Francis Jr., C. F. Hauke, E. B. Meritt, Charles J. Rhoads, Cato Sells, Ferdinand Shoemaker, Walter J. Stevens, J. G. Townsend, and William Zimmerman Jr.

The documents indicate that trachoma, a communicable disease that produced blindness, and tuberculosis were major problems. Many of the reports pertain to prevention of trachoma among school children. The reports, memoranda, and correspondence from agency physicians, medical directors, and nurses chronicle the efforts to combat these and other diseases. Other materials cover inspections of Indian schools, hospitals, and sanatoria; vaccinations; and programs to improve sanitation both inside the home and in schools and other public places.

Related LexisNexis collections concerning the Indian experience during the first half of the twentieth century include Native Americans and the New Deal: The Office Files of John Collier, 1933–1945; Native Americans Reference Collection: Documents Collected by The Office of Indian Affairs, Part II, 1901–1948; Survey of Conditions of the Indians in the United States; Major Council Meetings of American Indian Tribes, Section I (1914–1956): Navaho, Five Civilized Tribes, Ute, Pueblo, Cheyenne, and Arapaho; Section II (1911–1956): Sioux (Standing Rock, Rosebud, Pine Ridge, and Cheyenne River), Chippewa, and Klamath; Survey of Conditions of the Indians in the United States; and Survey of Indian Reservations.

SOURCE NOTE

The materials in this microform publication are from Record Group 75, Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Entry 121: Central Classified Files, 1907–1939, in the possession of the National Archives, Washington, D.C. This publication consists of the documents composing decimal numbers 702–707, 710, and 730–731 for the tribes, jurisdictions, agencies, and/or reservations listed in the Editorial Note.

EDITORIAL NOTE

The Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) discontinued the practice of maintaining separate, ready-reference volumes of incoming and outgoing correspondence in August 1907. Thereafter, the bureau filed correspondence according to a decimal-subject classification system, called the Central Classified Files. File numbers used to access correspondence in the old ready-reference volumes continued to be assigned to letters in order of receipt. In addition, the BIA assigned documents to a particular subject classification and to a jurisdiction. The jurisdictions were mainly the field units of the bureau: agencies, schools, hospitals, sanitariums, warehouses, and other institutions. There were separate designations for tribes, geographical areas, and a few special topics (i.e., liquor traffic). In addition, there was an “Indian Office” designation for records relating to the central office of the BIA and a “General Service” designation for general administrative records not relating to any particular jurisdiction. This classification scheme allowed for the expeditious handling of the influx of documentation from both the jurisdictions and the tribal governments. This scheme consisted of a number of subject headings. Each heading was further subdivided by specific topics or aspects of the main subject heading.

The Central Classified Files for this microfilm product span the years 1907 to 1939. Included are letters received, copies of letters sent, reports, memoranda, minutes, petitions, leases, contracts, affidavits, applications, certificates, licenses, permits, bonds, wills, other legal documents, tables, circulars, accounting records, clippings, photographs, diagrams, and blueprints grouped into the individual field units of the bureau, arranged alphabetically by name of jurisdiction, tribe, reservation, and/or agency. The records for each jurisdiction are arranged according to a decimal classification system. Within each classification there are individual dossiers or files of records relating to a specific subject. These files are arranged chronologically and then by file number of the first or "base" letter filed there. The individual documents within a file are generally arranged in chronological order. LexisNexis has filmed in their entirety all documents for the tribes, jurisdictions, agencies, and/or reservations listed below. A very small number of jurisdictions will not have documentation for one or more of the decimal numbers listed above.

REEL INDEX

Following is a listing of the folders that compose Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Central Classified Files, 1907–1939, Series C: Indian Health and Medical Affairs, Part 2, Diseases. The four-digit number on the far left is the frame number at which a particular file folder begins. This is followed by the file number, the year, the decimal number, and the dates of the file. Prominent correspondents are highlighted under the heading Principal Correspondents. Correspondents are listed in the order in which they appear on the film, and each one is listed only once per folder.

PRINCIPAL CORRESPONDENTS INDEX

The following index is a guide to the principal correspondents in this microform publication. The first number after each entry refers to the reel, while the four-digit number following the colon refers to the frame number at which a particular file folder containing information on the subject begins. Hence, 3: 0546 directs the researcher to the folder that begins at Frame 0546 of Reel 3. By referring to the Reel Index, which constitutes the initial section of this guide, the researcher will find the file number, decimal number, and a list of Principal Correspondents, listed in the order in which they appear on the film.

SUBJECT INDEX

The following index is a guide to the major topics in this microform publication. The first number after each entry refers to the reel, while the four-digit number following the colon refers to the frame number at which a particular file folder containing information on the subject begins. Hence, 1: 0104 directs the researcher to the folder that begins at Frame 0104 of Reel 1. By referring to the Reel Index, which constitutes the initial section of this guide, the researcher will find the file number, decimal number, disease name, inclusive dates, and a list of Principal Correspondents, arranged in the order in which they appear in the film.
