SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Established by executive order within the Executive Office of the President on January 22, 1944, the War Refugee Board (WRB) was intended to combat the Nazi campaign of persecution and extermination of people because of their race, religion, or political beliefs. This microfilm collection consists of correspondence, memoranda, reports, indexes, and related papers pertaining to the board's policies, programs, and operations. Included are publications and pamphlets issued by private rescue organizations, copies of submission slips prepared by the Office of Censorship containing information taken from intercepted communications relative to refugee organizations, and minutes of meetings of the Advisory Committee on Refugees and Displaced Persons.

Origin and Composition of the WRB

Executive Order No. 9417, which authorized the WRB, declared: "It is the policy of this Government to take all measures within its power to rescue the victims of enemy oppression who are in imminent danger of death and otherwise to afford such victims all possible relief and assistance consistent with the successful prosecution of the war."

The board was composed of the secretary of state, the secretary of the treasury, and the secretary of war and was made directly responsible to the president. John W. Pehle, assistant to the secretary of the treasury, was appointed executive director of the board. Upon his resignation on January 27, 1945, he was succeeded by Brigadier General William O'Dwyer, who served as executive director until the board's dissolution.

Special representatives served the board in the strategic areas of Turkey, Switzerland, Sweden, Portugal, Great Britain, Italy, and North Africa. These representatives were accorded diplomatic status and designated as special attachés on war refugee matters to the respective U.S. legations or embassies. The board operated with a Washington staff that never exceeded thirty employees, utilizing to the extent possible the personnel, supplies, and services of the State, War, and Treasury Departments.

Functions of the WRB

The functions of the board included "the development of plans and programs and the inauguration of effective measures for (a) the rescue, transportation, maintenance and relief of the victims of enemy oppression, and (b) the establishment of havens of temporary refuge for such victims."

The board enlisted the cooperation of foreign governments and international refugee and rescue organizations in carrying out these functions. The strategic neutral countries of Switzerland, Sweden, and Turkey were of particular importance,

...serving as bases of operation for the rescue and relief program. The Vatican rendered invaluable assistance both as a channel of communication into enemy territory and as a means of rendering direct aid to the persecuted in Nazi hands. The board obtained the cooperation of the Intergovernmental Committee on Refugees, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, and the International Committee of the Red Cross in rehabilitating and resettling refugees, finding temporary shelters for rescued victims, transporting these victims to the shelters and providing for their maintenance in transit, and making relief deliveries inside enemy territory.

The board worked closely with private U.S. relief agencies in formulating, financing, and executing plans and projects. A Treasury Department licensing policy that permitted established private agencies to transfer funds from the United States to their representatives in neutral countries aided in financing the rescue of persecuted peoples living under Nazi control. Under this licensing policy, it was possible to communicate with persons in enemy territory and to finance rescue operations with certain controls designed to bring no financial benefit to the enemy. Approximately $20 million in private funds was made available in this way. The board obtained blockade clearances for food shipments of private relief agencies for distribution by the International Red Cross to detainees in German concentration camps and supplemented these private projects with a food-parcel program of its own financed from the emergency funds of the president.

Through the efforts of the board, refugee camps were prepared in North Africa and safe haven was arranged in Palestine, Switzerland, and Sweden. A haven known as the Emergency Refugee Shelter at Fort Ontario, Oswego, New York, housed one thousand refugees permitted to enter the United States outside the immigration laws.

With the close of the war in Europe, the work of the board was at an end. By the terms of Executive Order No. 9614 the board was abolished on September 15, 1945. The Foreign Funds Control in the Treasury Department was assigned the task of liquidating the agency.

Part 1: Correspondence and Reports Files, February 1944–September 1945

Part 1 consists of letters received and copies of letters sent, memoranda, reports, and other materials. The activities of Leonard E. Ackerman, special representative of the board in the Mediterranean area, are well documented in these files. There is documentation on the cooperation with officials of American embassies and consulates and with independent rescue organizations, such as the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee and the American Friends Service Committee, which maintained rescue services through affiliations in other countries. In addition, Part 1 includes advice and suggestions from interested agencies as to the planning of rescue programs, and offers from individuals to assist the WRB program through gifts of money, property, and homes for refugees. Some letters include requests for aid from specific refugees. There are Justice Department approvals of petitions by American citizens for visas on behalf of refugee relatives, and reissuance of visas to qualified persons, in enemy-occupied territories, holding expired American visas. Locations of German concentration and extermination camps and conditions in these camps are graphically presented in these files. There is correspondence regarding the issuance of Treasury Department licenses, permitting established private agencies to transfer funds from the United States to their representatives in neutral countries in order to finance the rescue of persecuted peoples under Nazi control.

There are also publications and pamphlets issued by private rescue organizations reporting on their activities, copies of submission slips prepared by the Office of Censorship containing information taken from intercepted communications relative to refugee organizations, and minutes of meetings of the Advisory Committee on Refugees and Displaced Persons.

Part 1 also includes a history of the organization prepared by the board's staff, consisting of one volume of narrative and two volumes of selected documents. In addition, a collection of material related to Raoul Wallenberg has been included.

SOURCE NOTE

The materials microfilmed for this publication are from the Federal Records collection, Record Group 220, Records of Temporary Commissions, Committees, and Boards: Records of the War Refugee Board, from the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, Hyde Park, New York.

EDITORIAL NOTE

This microform collection consists of the various documents accumulated and/or produced by the War Refugee Board during its tenure from February 1944 through September 1945. The records of the War Refugee Board consist of 114 boxes of material arranged into fourteen subject or organizational groupings. These groupings include: General Records; Projects and Documents File; and smaller separate file groupings on admission of refugees into the United States, account records, correspondence reference forms, press clippings, and the correspondence files of Roswell D. McClelland. The original organization of the files has been retained by the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library.

Papers of the War Refugee Board, Part 1 includes the General Records files comprising boxes 1–29. In addition, this publication includes the History of the War Refugee Board files in boxes 110–111, the Raoul Wallenberg materials in box 111, and the files in boxes 112–113 comprising the collection entitled “Paraphrases of Selected Documents.” LexisNexis has microfilmed these files in their entirety and as the individual documents were arranged at the library.

[Requests for Specific Aid consist of correspondence from persons requesting government action on behalf of European Jews. Letters are written requesting assistance for individual concentration camp inmates and refugees throughout the world. Letters refer to the Emergency Refugee Shelter in New York and to immigration policies. Many letters also discuss visas matters, passports, and support for opening Palestine to immigration from Europe. Letters document refugee assistance efforts of international organizations, private agencies, and private citizens.]

PRINCIPAL CORRESPONDENTS INDEX

The following index is a guide to the principal correspondents in this microform publication. The first number after each subentry refers to the reel, while the four-digit number following the colon refers to the frame number at which the folder begins. Hence, 1: 0940 directs the researcher to Frame 0940 of Reel 1. By referring to the Reel Index, which constitutes the initial segment of this guide, researchers will find a description of the collection and a list of the folders in the collection. Researchers should note that some correspondents also appear as subjects in the Subject Index.

GEOGRAPHIC INDEX

The following index is a guide to the geographic entries in this microform publication. The first number after each subentry refers to the reel, while the four-digit number following the colon refers to the frame number at which the subject begins. Hence, 16: 0163 directs the researcher to Frame 0163 of Reel 16. By referring to the Reel Index, which constitutes the initial segment of this guide, researchers will find a description of the collection and a list of the folders in the collection.

SUBJECT INDEX

The following index is a guide to the major topics in this microform publication. The first number after each subentry refers to the reel, while the four-digit number following the colon refers to the frame number at which the subject begins. Hence, 1: 0001 directs the researcher to Frame 0001 of Reel 1. By referring to the Reel Index, which constitutes the initial segment of this guide, researchers will find a description of the collection and a list of the folders in the collection. Researchers should note that individuals may also appear as correspondents in the Principal Correspondents Index. All geographic entries are listed in the Geographic Index.
