NOTE ON SOURCES

The original documents that have been microfilmed for this publication are from the National Security Council Files, Record Group #273, deposited at the National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, D.C.

EDITORIAL NOTE

Under the National Security Act of 1947 and the Reorganization Plan of 1949, the composition and function of the National Security Council (NSC) are clearly and simply defined. Chaired by the president, the NSC consists of statutory members (the vice-president and the secretaries of state and defense), statutory advisers (the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the director of Central Intelligence), the assistant to the president for National Security Affairs, and professional staff members who are on temporary assignment from the armed forces, the CIA, and elsewhere in the government or who have been recruited from universities and think tanks. The statutory function of the NSC is to advise the president with respect to the integration of domestic, foreign, and military policies relating to national security.

However, the mere words by which the NSC was established (see page viii) do not begin to indicate how the NSC has evolved as a key—sometimes the key—foreign policymaking arm of the president under such strong-willed National Security Advisers as McGeorge Bundy, Henry Kissinger, and Zbigniew Brzezinski. For such an evaluation of the NSC's first four decades, an essential starting point is an examination of the many papers, memoranda, and directives generated by the NSC. Toward this end University Publications of America (UPA), for over a decade, has been committed to collecting and publishing all available NSC documents in Documents of the National Security Council. Now, with the addition of over seven thousand pages of formerly classified NSC papers in UPA's new Fifth Supplement to Documents of the National Security Council, researchers have conveniently available for the first time an inner history of American foreign policy in the postwar era in the form of all of the NSC papers that have been released.

Listed below are the different NSC file series contained in this micropublication; also listed are the previous UPA publications of Documents of the National Security Council where documents from these various file series will be found. Following the numbered list are sections describing in more detail each of the file series.

National Security Council Policy Papers (NSCPP)

During the Truman and Eisenhower administrations, the NSC produced a series of formal policy papers whose purpose was to analyze current and potential national security issues and make policy recommendations to deal with those issues. These policy papers were prepared by the NSC staff and occasionally by members of the NSC in response to requests by the NSC to study specific issues. Each policy paper was assigned a number for reference purposes. When completed, policy papers were distributed to NSC members for study and comment. If the NSC decided to alter a policy paper, a revised draft of the paper would be produced and redistributed to NSC members for further study and comment. Each revised draft would be assigned the same number as the original paper, followed by a slant mark (/) and then the number of the revision. The decision whether or not to approve a policy paper was the president's; once approved, the paper became the official (and usually secret) policy of the United States government. If the same national security issue were reevaluated at a future date, a new number would be assigned to the ensuing policy paper.

In the NSC Policy Paper section of this publication, the researcher will also find NSC progress reports. These progress reports were prepared by members of the NSC during the Truman administration and by the Operations Coordinating Board of the NSC during the Eisenhower administration. Their purpose was: (1) to monitor the activities of various federal agencies in implementing the policies set forth in approved policy papers, and (2) to evaluate the effectiveness of such activities in furthering the goals of such policy papers. Each progress report was assigned the number of the approved policy paper that it evaluated.

The numbering system for policy papers underwent a change between the Truman and Eisenhower administrations. During the Truman administration (1945–1953), policy papers were assigned consecutive numbers beginning with #1. During the Eisenhower administration (1953–1961), policy papers were assigned four-digit numbers; the first two digits identified the year the paper was begun, and the last two digits identified the sequence of the specific paper.

In this micropublication the policy papers and progress reports are arranged in numerical order, first by policy paper number and then by revision number. If there is more than one progress report for a policy paper, the progress reports are arranged chronologically.

National Security Council Policy Papers Background Documents (NSCPPBD)

This section consists of the background documentation used by the NSC staff in preparing policy papers. These files contain memoranda, correspondence, minutes of meetings, and early uncirculated drafts of policy papers prepared by the NSC staff; they also contain memoranda, reports, and comments on policy papers by NSC members and various U.S. government agencies. The documents are arranged chronologically under the appropriate policy paper number. The corresponding policy papers themselves can be found in the NSC Policy Paper section of this micropublication, or in previous UPA publications of Documents of the National Security Council.

“P” (Procedure) Files

The “P” Files were created during the Truman and Eisenhower administrations by the National Security Council Staff as a policy paper series separate and distinct from the formal NSCPP series. The studies contained in the “P” Files deal with issues that required an accelerated procedure of review and action, and that were normally more specific than those in the NSCPP series. In addition, the "P" Files were used for policy studies that were produced outside the NSC. Each "P" File was assigned a number as the file was created. Individual "P" Files contain the policy paper itself as well as background documents. UPA has microfilmed the "P" Files in numerical order by "P" File number, and within each file the documents are arranged in chronological order.

"Mill" Papers

During the Truman and Eisenhower administrations, the "Mill" Papers were the working files for proposed NSC studies. When the NSC began work on a new study, all material pertaining to it was filed as a "Mill" Paper and given a "Mill" number. If and when the subject of a "Mill" Paper became the subject of an NSCPP, the paper and background documents would be transferred into the NSCPPBD file. The materials that remained in the "Mill" Papers, therefore, are document files for proposed studies that were never submitted to the NSC.

National Security Council Actions (NSCA)

The National Security Council Actions constitute records of actions, directives, and decisions made by the NSC. Usually, NSCAs were recorded at NSC meetings; occasionally, it was necessary to take an immediate action between meetings. All NSCAs were numbered consecutively as they were made.

National Security Study Memoranda (NSSM)

The National Security Study Memoranda series was used during the Nixon and Ford administrations to direct that studies be undertaken involving national security policy and objectives. The memoranda were numbered consecutively as they were produced. The NSSM series also contains the studies and background documents produced in response to the individual memoranda.

National Security Decision Memoranda (NSDM)

National Security Decision Memoranda were formal presidential directives during the Nixon and Ford administrations dealing with national security affairs and are numbered consecutively.

Presidential Directives (PD)

The Presidential Directives series was used during the Carter administration to promulgate presidential decisions on national security matters. The directives were numbered consecutively as they were produced.

National Security Decision Directives (NSDD)

The National Security Decision Directives series was used by the Reagan administration to promulgate presidential decisions implementing national policy and objectives in all areas involving national security. All directives in this series are individually identified by number and signed by the president.

National Security Council Intelligence Directives (NSCID)

National Security Council Intelligence Directives have been used since 1947 to provide guidance for the entire United States intelligence establishment. These directives outline the organization, procedures, and relationships of the numerous intelligence organizations within the federal government. Each NSCID covers a certain topic such as basic duties and responsibilities (NSCID #1), coordination of intelligence production (NSCID #3), and the defector program (NSCID #4). Revisions have been made periodically to both the entire series of NSCIDs as well as to individual directives. Unlike other NSC papers, NSCID numbers do not change when revisions are made.

Following is the original text establishing the National Security Council in 1947.

REFERENCES IN TEXT

The civil-service laws, referred to in subsec. (c), are set forth in Title 5, Government Organization and Employees. See, particularly, section 3301 et seq. of that title.

CODIFICATION

In subsec. (c), provisions that specified compensation of $10,000 per year for the executive secretary to the Council are omitted as obsolete and superseded. Sections 1202 and 1204 of the Classification Act of 1949, 63 Stat. 972, 973, repealed the Classification Act of 1923 and all other law or parts of laws inconsistent with the 1949 Act. The Classification Act of 1949 was repealed by Pub. L. 89-554, Sept. 6, 1966, § 8(a), 80 Stat. 632, and reenacted as chapter 51 and subchapter III of chapter 53 of Title 5, Government Organization and Employees. Section 5102 of Title 5 now contains the applicability provisions of the 1949 Act, and section 5103 of Title 5 authorizes the Civil Service Commission to determine the applicability to specific positions and employees.

"Chapter 51 and subchapter III of chapter 53 of title 5" was substituted for "the Classification Act of 1949, as amended" on authority of section 7(b) of Pub. L. 89-554, Sept. 6, 1966, 80 Stat. 631, section 1 of which enacted Title 5.

AMENDMENTS

1951—Subsec. (a). Act Oct. 10, 1951 inserted clause (5), relating to Director for Mutual Security, in fourth paragraph, and renumbered former clauses (5) and (6) thereof as clauses (6) and (7), respectively.

1949—Subsec. (a). Act Aug. 10, 1949, added the Vice-President to the Council, removed the Secretaries of the military departments, to authorize the President to add, with the consent of the Senate, Secretaries and Under Secretaries of other executive departments and of the military department, and the Chairmen of the Munitions Board and the Research and Development Board.

Subsec. (c). Act Oct. 28, 1949, substituted the "Classification Act of 1949" for the "Classification Act of 1923, as amended."

REEL INDEX

The frame number on the left side of the page indicates where a specific document begins. These documents are typically arranged in numerical order by type. (See Editorial Note, page v, for detailed explanation of each division.) The Reel Index lists the title, author, date of origination, number of pages, security classification, and declassification or release date. For the NSC Policy Papers, Background Documents, "P" Files, and "Mill" Papers, the author is listed by title whenever possible.

The researcher should also note that the number of pages in each entry reflects the actual number of pages in the document. (Oversize pages require two frames for complete reproduction.) In addition, documents that appear to be out of chronological order are usually attachments to a previously listed memorandum, report, etc. (See, for example, Reel 1, Frame 0657.) The user will also note that, particularly in the later reels, the security classification code may not be represented, as the documents are either unclassified or the code is not legible on the document. For an explanation to the abbreviations used for the security classifications, the user is referred to Appendix II on page xiv.
