SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This series of Papers of the NAACP documents the activities of branch offices and state conferences in Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, and Washington State. The files are arranged alphabetically by state and thereunder by city and span from 1956 to 1965.

The Branch Department files provide an important local perspective on the functioning of NAACP branches and state conferences and reveal a vibrant movement for civil rights among NAACP branches in the West. The files contain correspondence from the national office to the branches as well as correspondence and reports generated at the local level and forwarded to the national office. These files cover a wide variety of local matters such as branch elections, membership drives, fund-raising, factional disputes, and local civil rights initiatives.

The Los Angeles, California, NAACP branch is the most well-documented branch in this edition. Its files contain detailed material on essential branch activities such as membership recruitment, branch finances, and fund-raising. There are also several reports on the branch's overall programs. The 1956 annual report painted an optimistic picture. Branch president Thomas G. Neusom proudly proclaimed in his portion of the report that: "To say that the Los Angeles NAACP had a good year would be an understatement of fact." The report records that the branch's income for the year was over $81,000, of which about $31,000 was turned over to the national office. Other money was used to support civil rights initiatives in Alabama and Mississippi. In 1956, the branch also reached a then membership high of almost fifteen thousand people. The Labor and Industry Committee report for 1956 discussed efforts to develop closer cooperation between the branch and organized labor. The Education Committee told of its successes in teacher placement. In 1958, regional field secretary Tarea Hall Pittman submitted a report with a different emphasis. Pittman provided a background summary of the Los Angeles branch, including a discussion of factional divisions. Pittman concluded that the Los Angeles branch needed to be decentralized. Subsequent documents in the Los Angeles branch files take up the issue of creating multiple branches in the Los Angeles area.

There are several other noteworthy documents in the Los Angeles branch files. In a November 1956 memorandum to Roy Wilkins, Gloster B. Current, and Franklin H. Williams, field secretary Lester P. Bailey wrote about a possible branch election showdown between a left-wing, "long-reputed Stalinist" group and another faction of anti-Communists. In 1962, the shooting of several members of the Nation of Islam by members of the Los Angeles Police Department attracted widespread attention. There are several newspaper articles on this event, and there is also an account by field secretary Althea T. L. Simmons of meetings held following the shootings. Reports on discrimination by labor unions and on legal cases arising out of the 1965 Watts riot can be found in the 1965 Los Angeles branch files. The Los Angeles branch files begin at Frame 0587 of Reel 2 and continue through to Frame 0476 of Reel 4.

California boasted several other active NAACP branches. The Oakland, California, branch, waged a multifaceted campaign against discrimination in employment, housing, and education. This campaign included the use of direct action protests and the formation of a civil rights coalition group called the Coordinating Committee for Civil Rights. The San Francisco branch also joined a coalition group in order to advance the cause of civil rights. The United San Francisco Freedom Movement was led by NAACP branch president Thomas N. Burbridge. The San Francisco files contain several documents pertaining to the United San Francisco Movement, including a speech by Burbridge outlining some of the organization's goals in employment, housing, education, and politics. Other California branches with material in this series of Papers of the NAACP are Alameda, Berkeley, Beverly Hills, Fresno, Pasadena, and Richmond.

Files from the other states covered in this series of Branch Department files provide further insight into some of the other NAACP initiatives in western states. The Tucson, Arizona, branch files, for example, contain a series of newspaper clippings regarding housing discrimination demonstrations at the University of Arizona. The Okemah-Tempe, Arizona, branch files shed light on some of the difficulties of branch administration. The Okemah-Tempe branch wanted to remain an autonomous unit; however, the national office wanted the branch to merge with the Maricopa County branch. The dispute was not resolved until the national office demanded the merger in 1958. The Anchorage, Alaska, branch files contain material on branch president Blanche McSmith's appointment to the Alaska House of Representatives, a boycott of Carr's food center because of employment discrimination, and annual reports of branch activities in 1959 and 1965. The Portland, Oregon, branch files contain correspondence and newspaper clippings on the branch's efforts to eliminate discrimination in the Portland schools. In the Salt Lake City branch files, there are two reports issued by the Utah State Advisory Commission to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, and a paper by Elmer R. Smith discussing the status of African Americans in Utah.

Part 27: Selected Branch Files, 1956–1965 represents a continuation of the Selected Branch Files from Part 12 (1913–1939) and Part 26 (1940–1955) of UPA's Papers of the NAACP.
While the Branch Department files provide essential detail on local and state NAACP activity, researchers should be aware that the branch files can be used most effectively in conjunction with other parts of Papers of the NAACP. Especially relevant in this regard is Part 25: Branch Department Files. The records in Part 25 include regular reports from the NAACP’s regional field staff, and Series C of Part 25 reproduces the printed material and branch newsletters of several western branches. Other parts of UPA’s Papers of the NAACP that provide additional material on the period from 1956 to 1965 are the following:

SUBJECT INDEX

The following index is a guide to the major topics, personalities, and activities in this microform publication. The first number after each entry refers to the reel, while the four-digit number following the colon refers to the frame number at which a particular file folder containing information on the subject begins. Hence, 6: 0287 directs the researcher to the folder that begins at Frame 0287 of Reel 6. By referring to the Reel Index, which constitutes the initial section of this guide, the researcher will find the folder title, inclusive dates, and a list of Major Topics and Principal Correspondents, arranged in the order in which they appear on the film.
