

Confidential File of the Eisenhower White House 1953–1961

Part 1: Subjects Series

The Confidential File of the Eisenhower White House consists of approximately 82,000 pages of the highest-level materials in the White House Central Files. This important archive is the main repository for correspondence, reports, memoranda, analyses, and studies composed by various executive departments and agencies, cabinet members and presidential advisers, Congress, and prominent public figures, for use by the President and senior officials in formulating domestic and foreign policies and programs.

The domestic topics covered within the collection include:

- Agriculture
- Atomic energy
- Civil aviation
- Disasters (1955 floods)
- Georgescu Case
- Government operations
- Louisiana
- Racial affairs
- Loyalty and Security Programs
- Republican Party politics
- Natural resources policy
- Science and technology
- Critical materials stockpiling
- the Taft-Hartley Act
- Trade agreements & tariffs
- Veterans

Among the prominent national security and foreign policy issues discussed at length in this collection are:

- Atoms for Peace
- Civil defense
- Food for Peace
- Hungarian Crisis
- Formosan Question
- Korean Emergency
- Mutual Security and Assistance
- NATO
- Nuclear testing and disarmament
- State visits of foreign
- Oil imports
- Operation ALERT
- Refugee problems
- United Nations
- Export-Import Bank

Part 1: Subjects Series: 43 reels. Film available now. Guide forthcoming.
ISBN 1-55655-959-3