FULL NEWS ARCHIVE AND MORE MUST-HAVE CONTENT

Lexis Advance® keeps evolving to meet your needs. It's in our DNA.

Lexis Advance now offers 99.9% of all lexis.com® content because we know saving research steps is important to you. Plus discover more enhancements to give you added flexibility when you use results documents, easier ways to deliver more custom results and more. Take a look at the latest differences designed to help you achieve new levels of success.

Do you use LexisNexis® PowerInvoice™?
You'll love these new, timesaving features.

More Must-Have Content

Rely on deep news archives—and the most comprehensive collection of news & business sources in the legal market.

Lexis Advance now includes all the archived news available at *lexis.com—including full archives for exclusive offerings like The Washington Post® and The New York Times®, as well as legal-market exclusives like The Wall Street Journal® and ALM® publications. Some news source archives date back 60 years. You won't find this comprehensive coverage with any other online legalresearch provider.

“Back-of-the-book” indices give you another good finding option. Now find 60+ back-of-the-book indices from often-used publications including many popular Matthew Bender® treatises.

More indices will be coming soon—including many not previously available via lexis.com. And as long as the parent publication is in your subscription plan, the index will be as well.

Indices display as separate sources, i.e., you can easily gain access to available indices via the Red Search Box, the Explore Content feature or the Browse Sources pull-down menu (see graphic, right).

Once your index source displays, you can browse, open and close levels, and link to topics of interest in the full-text source. Or search for a specific topic—in the entire index, or just the portions you select.

Be confident you have comprehensive coverage for your topic, including these sources just added to the Lexis Advance service:

- 1,100 news sources recently added to lexis.com—and now available at Lexis Advance
- 89 secondary titles recently added to lexis.com—and now available at Lexis Advance
- 63 scientific publications recently added to lexis.com—and now available at Lexis Advance
- 22 administrative titles
- 13 trial court orders
- 79 Illinois and 18 Massachusetts CLE resources
- 12 ABA treatises
- 200 LexisNexis® Fast Track sources

Find The Congressional Record details more quickly. Now Lexis Advance federal legislative historic PDFs are even easier to use.

- When you search and open a Congressional Record PDF, it takes you to the pinpoint reference. This applies to PDFs of The Congressional Record 1873–1997, Congressional Globe 1833–1873, Register of Debates 1824–1839 and Annals of Congress 1789–1824.
- PDFs from The Congressional Record and the U.S. Serial Sets are now fully searchable at Lexis Advance. This includes the sources mentioned above plus Congressional Hearings 2011–current and U.S. Serial Set 1789–1969.

More Search Power

Quickly find relevant documents by taking advantage of 60+ additional Lexis Advance document segments, all added to the applicable Advanced Search forms. For example:

For case law: Now find your search words in specific opinion types, e.g., concurring, dissent or majority. Easily find which judge wrote the dissent, concurring or majority opinion. Find your search words in the outcome portion of the case—or in the headnotes. To see all case segments available, go to Advanced Search and select Cases.

For codes in statutes and regulations: Find your search words in the history, rule, text or unannotated portion of the text. Check the statutes or regulation Advanced Search form for a complete list of available segments.

For jurisprudence content in analytical materials, as well as medical reference content in scientific materials: Now locate content by the author in addition to the other segments available in the Advanced Search forms.

Find more Advanced Search form enhancements to help guide you to relevant documents

- Discover specific fields for search commands such as OR, AND—extra helpful for researchers who are not as familiar with Boolean connectors.
- Get faster access to forms you need. Find the hierarchical list at the top of the screen as well as the bottom so you can easily switch content types.

Speed your work with more help from the Red Search Box. When you enter terms in the Red Search Box, now the suggestions displayed are organized into a list of sources, then documents and then legal phrases.

Added Document Flexibility

Gain more insight on pending legislation to inform your strategy. What are the chances of passage for the vital legislation that may affect your work? Now you can see the probability.

Introducing predictive analysis and data visualization tools within Lexis Advance. These new Legislative Outlook tools are available for federal and state bills and bill tracking documents. Open these documents, and the Legislative Outlook forecasting and visuals display:

- The Legislative Outlook Gauge, which provides a high-level indicator of the probability that a bill will pass at the next stage
- A Progress Bar timeline that gives you a visual representation of the status of a bill

There's more. The Legislative Outlook Gauge and the Progress Bar are included in your Lexis Advance subscription. Lexis Advance subscribers can also link to Legislative Outlook in Detail documents with deeper detail on the forecasting factors. You won't find this detail in any competitive online legal products.

And now through November 2016, these Legislative Outlook in Detail documents are also available to Lexis Advance subscribers without additional charges. (U.S. government customers are excluded from this offer.)

Shepard's® BriefLink speeds your drafting and citation checking by populating Microsoft® Word documents with Lexis Advance links to legal authority cited—perfect when filing briefs and other documents in jurisdictions that require these links. You also get the option to include Shepard's Signal™ indicators to your documents. Shepard's BriefLink is available to all Lexis Advance subscribers.

Better assess how relevant your document is. When you use the Lexis Advance Search Within Document or Navigate Terms within a document, you'll see a number next to each term indicating how many times that term appears in your document.

Navigate all terms

Increase your efficiency when you search Tables of Contents (TOC). You can make a chapter in a TOC a favorite so you can return to that chapter quickly for future research. Just click the Favorites star next to the chapter name.

Easier Results Review

Better review results lists—at a glance. Now you can identify forms plus documents from statutes, secondary sources and other hierarchical content more quickly because more intuitive identifying labels have been added to your results lists to give you more context.

Deliver just the content you need. Make the most of these convenient cite list, administrative code and browser delivery enhancements.

- Select a range of documents for delivery in a cite list (up to 250).
- Now when you deliver administrative code documents, you can include or exclude annotations. (See graphic below.)
- You can print up to 300 pages (50 more than previously) using your browser print delivery option.

Gain even more control over alerts that help you stay updated on the latest changes in your research findings.

- You can now deliver your alert in results list format.
- Alert result lists have section headers when appropriate (e.g., for statutes).
- You can request notification even when no new results are available, if desired.
- In addition to being notified 10 days before an alert expires, now you will also receive notice 1 day before expiration.
- When you review an alert results document, that result will be marked with a “read” icon.

Stay better organized with these Work Folder enhancements:

- Shared work folders now have a new Shared Folder icon for quick identification
- Work Folders now display the date of each document (in addition to the date the document was loaded to the Work Folder)

Faster Start to Research

Go right to top sources for your practice area or jurisdiction with the expanding portfolio of Lexis Advance Practice Pages. Now you can choose from several new practice areas.

Better Access Where You Work

If you use a mobile device, the screen layout automatically adapts to the format you need. Or if you prefer, you can use the Apple® iPhone® or iPad® app—with new navigation, delivery and search enhancements:

iPad—Take advantage of citation assistance, easier navigation and more options for document delivery with these enhancements:

- More easily navigate documents in search results with fewer tabs
- Choose from added delivery options including the ability to deliver search results and document attachments
- More easily access Advanced Search form types from the top of the screen
- View the publication edition when you choose to copy a citation or copy selected text from a publication

iPad and iPhone—Gain more must-have content and more precise searching tools with these enhancements:

- Access full archived news
- Take advantage of additional document segments, as well as enhanced citation recognition and error messaging if no content exists for a pathway you choose
- See section headers in results list document titles

Greater Tool Integration

With Lexis Advance, you have access to a variety of best-in-class tools—all in one place—to help optimize the way you work. Whether you're building a case or managing a transaction, sophisticated and easy-to-use tools can help you turn research into action.

Integrate your research and drafting more efficiently. Take advantage of the latest edition of Lexis® for Microsoft Office®, which integrates with Lexis Advance to dramatically reduce the time needed to draft, review, proofread and respond to legal and business documents.

- Lexis Advance Work Folder integration: Access Lexis for Microsoft Office tools without leaving Microsoft Word, and then easily save .docx Word files in your Lexis Advance Work Folders.
- Enhanced Table of Authorities (TOA) feature: Customize your TOA based on your firm's style.
- Lexis Practice Advisor® integration*: Use convenient buttons on the Lexis for Microsoft Office ribbon to find practical guidance via overviews, practice notes, case law and statutes, forms and more.

*Separate subscription to Lexis Practice Advisor required.

Gain insight on individuals you might otherwise miss by efficiently tapping social media and open Web sources. The Social Media Locator search is now available through LexisNexis® Public Records via Lexis Advance. (A Public Records subscription is needed to use this new search option.) This new search option examines an individual's digital footprint by simultaneously checking publicly available, real-time and historical social media data and Web information on hundreds of social networking sites and millions of websites, including content not indexed by standard search engines.
