FINDING FULL-TEXT DOCUMENTS JUST GOT EASIER—EVEN WITHOUT A CITE

Lexis Advance® keeps evolving to meet your needs. It's in our DNA.

A faster start to research means more than getting a jump on the competition. Saving time can mean saving money. Plus, you have more time to delve deeper and gain better insight into a case or deal. But a fast start isn't all. We're making research faster and more efficient from start to finish. Have a look at the latest enhancements.

Faster Start to Research

Not sure of a citation format? New form-based assistance helps you get a document quickly. We've also added several new Practice Centers to connect you directly with relevant sources faster.

Get a document faster—with the cite, party name or docket number. Select the Get a Doc Assistance link above the Red Search Box for fast help retrieving a document by citation—or a case by party name or docket number. If you don't know the citation format, this feature is designed to help you find the right one fast.

(As always, you can also retrieve a document with a known citation right from the Red Search Box. Just enter the citation you know. And now the Red Search Box recognizes even more citation variants and offers more citation formatting options to save you time.)

Here's how the Get a Doc Assistance feature works.

Select the Get a Doc Assistance link:

Lexis Advance®

Advanced Search | Tips | Get a Doc Assistance

Enter terms, sources, a citation, or shep: to Shepardize®

Search: Everything

Fill-in-the-blank forms help you quickly retrieve the document you want. Get a Doc Assistance automatically displays the By Citation tab. To find your citation format—more than 30 content types are available, including primary and secondary sources; briefs, pleading & motions; verdicts & settlements, legal news and more—select a content type and jurisdiction. Then just choose a format (in red at right).

Keep Get a Doc Assistance handy—outside the Lexis Advance service. Create a Permalink to link directly to the Get a Doc forms. Just click Actions then Link to this page and follow the simple instructions.

Finding a case by party name(s) or docket number is just as simple. For example, select the Cases by Party Name tab, enter the party names you know and select a jurisdiction—and a date or date range, if you choose.

Now go straight to more top sources for a jurisdiction, industry or practice area. The expanding collection of Lexis Advance Practice Centers gets you up and running with the most relevant sources faster. Lexis Advance now has six new Practice Centers, and more jurisdiction and practice area centers are on the way.

Added Document Flexibility

Now you have more citation styling options when you copy text from administrative codes.

Get administrative code cites your way, in your preferred format. Save time when copying text with a citation from administrative code sources by selecting a citation style format from more than 20 options.

Easier Results Review

Now it's easier than ever to navigate Shepard's® Citations Service. You can also email larger-sized search results documents.

Navigate seamlessly from one citing reference to another in Shepard's. Move easily between citing references using links at the top of your Shepardized™ document. Even see the case name and cite of the document you're about to view. Click, and you'll move directly to the first citing reference to your case located in the next citing case. The next/previous reference links "float" with you as you navigate through the citing reference. Quickly see how your opinion is treated by multiple citing sources.

What you see online is what you get when you deliver results in Title view. Printing, downloading or emailing your results list in Title view now delivers the same, easy-to-skim look as the clean online display.

Send larger documents or groups of documents in a single email. With Lexis Advance you can email documents or results up to 20 MB* in size—four times larger than major competing services accommodate. For documents exceeding that file size, Lexis Advance delivers a link you can use to access the document or collection. Since there's no need to break up a document or collection into multiple messages, you save time and effort.

*Capability may depend on your enterprise server limitations.

Better Access Where You Work

You don't need apps to gain access to the Lexis Advance service via your tablet or handheld device, but we do offer Apple® iPad® and Apple® iPhone® apps with ever-increasing capabilities. Here's what's new.

The Lexis Advance app for iPad now offers:

- Copy text with a citation from administrative code sources. Select from more than 20 states and standard formatting options
- Link to Patent PDFs with Lexis Advance full-text documents
- Save a custom cite list from results to a work folder
