Get quick answers to common legal questions with Lexis® Answers: with the massive amount of legal-related information and data available today, traditional means of searching content online is no longer as efficient or effective. Legal professionals need tools that help them manage and analyze search results in this age of endless information while improving workflow. Companies, like LexisNexis are making significant investments in pursuing advanced technologies that enhance legal research to better meet the needs of today's data-driven legal professionals.

Lexis Answers uses powerful machine learning, cognitive computing, and advanced natural language processing technologies to understand common legal questions and delivers an “answer card” that provides a clear answer as a starting point, in addition to comprehensive search results.

Lexis Answers can suggest natural-language queries for finding: Definitions of legal terms, Burdens of proof, Standards of review, Elements of a claim or defense, and Legal doctrines.
