Announcing LexisNexis® CourtLink® Document Finder!

Now you can quickly and easily locate federal district court documents of interest to you through the new LexisNexis CourtLink Document Finder feature. CourtLink® Document Finder mines the deep historical CourtLink database of court records including up to 20 years of case history to locate the documents listed within the dockets that meet your search criteria.

For example, quickly discover and obtain a judge's rulings in cases similar to one you may now be involved in and order those documents with a single click. Paired with CourtLink Strategic Profiles and Track, this powerful new functionality will assist you in the critical case investigation process.

Run your search to locate documents meeting your key criteria, including:

- Type of document (i.e. motions, orders, etc)
- Nature of Suit
- Parties (i.e. enter a judge, attorney, and/or litigant name)
- Jurisdiction

You can then easily order or instantly obtain (depending on online availability) the documents of interest to you from the results page.

Note: Because not all dockets in the CourtLink system are updated, the CourtLink Document Finder results will only include documents found in the dockets as of the last updated date.

To run a CourtLink Document Finder Search:

- 1 Log on to courtlink.lexisnexis.com
- 2 Click Search from the CourtLink top navigation menu
- 3 Click the red Document Finder button
- 4 Select a court, nature of suit, and document type. You may also enter additional criteria such as party name and/or date range to further narrow your search.
- 5 Click Next. Verify your criteria and click Submit Search.
