

Is it on Lexis???

<http://web.nexis.com/sources>

The LexisNexis Searchable Directory of Online Sources Source Locator is a powerful new tool for retrieving targeted information about the 36,000+ LexisNexis sources. Use it to see which publications are available on the LexisNexis services. It is a free site.

The screenshot shows a search form with the following fields and options:

- TOPIC: All (dropdown)
- TYPE: All (dropdown)
- PUBLICATION NAME: (text input)
- PUBLISHER/PROVIDER: (text input)
- DESCRIPTION: (text input)
- GEOGRAPHY: All (dropdown)
- LANGUAGE: All (dropdown)
- FREQUENCY: All (dropdown)
- AVAILABILITY: All (dropdown)
- DATA FORMAT: All (dropdown)
- LEXISNEXIS LIBRARY: (text input)
- LEXISNEXIS INDIVIDUAL FILE: (text input)
- Radio buttons: Display Individual Sources, Display Individual and Group Sources

To begin, supply search criteria for any field(s) in the search form or press Submit for a comprehensive list. For best results, define your query using one or two categories.

Note: Source Locator simply displays which publications are available on the LexisNexis services (as well as how soon after publication Lexis has it) . It also gives information about the sources, such as a description of coverage, the publisher, and where to find it on Lexis.com. You cannot perform a Lexis.com search from this site.