DESCRIPTION

Previous employment verification is often the most difficult and time-consuming part of the hiring process. LexisNexis Screening Solutions offers fast and effective verification of an applicant's employment history as reported on the employment application. Our verification professionals are in contact with hundreds of employers nationwide on a daily basis and have the experience and relationships that can really make a difference in your verification efforts.

FEATURES AND BENEFITS

Requested online—verification requests can be made anywhere and at any time.

Completed by our verification specialists. We call and verify previous employment with each source. We have established relationships with most Fortune 500 companies which expedites this process.

Completed in industry-setting turnaround times. We pride ourselves in leading the industry in turnaround times. Every background request is taken as a "rush" job. We know you need the information as soon as possible.

FAQS

When is it appropriate to order a previous employment check?

Employment checks are a proven way to ensure applicants are representing themselves honestly.

Should I always question what applicant's put on their resumes or application forms?

Yes. Unfortunately, on average, over 30% of applicants misrepresent their work history.

TYPICAL RESULTS

LexisNexis verifies that the employer, title held and dates of employment provided by the applicant correspond with data held by the former employer.
