Do I have to take both days if I don't need them?

- No. While the two day courses are designed together with class activities from one session to the next, if you only need information covered one day, you can register à la carte.

A teammate wants to join me for class. Do they need to register separately?

- Yes. LexisNexis policy states each attendee must register for a seat in a public class.
- A custom or private class delivery may be a cost efficient option if there are several people that need training.

How do I add a 2-day course on LexisNexis University?

- From the LNU course page, click "Add Bundle to Cart."
- You may notice that classes are missing from your schedule... don't worry, this is normal.
- Enter payment information and press Submit to continue checking out.
- Once your method of payment is processed, between 24-48 hours, all classes will appear on your "My Courses" page.

How will I connect to the class and find class materials after I register?

- A week before class, students receive WebEx connection info, access to a training environment, and a course guide.
- Pre-work instructions are also sent, detailing connection testing and class setup.
- Add @lexisnexis.com to your safe contacts so the communications do not get caught in a spam folder.
- Read the pre-work instructions and test your connections at least 24 hours before the start of class so we can troubleshoot any connection issues in advance.

What training options do you have for end users?

- The Train the Trainer course prepares your internal staff to deliver training in Web and IMO.
- End User Subscriptions provide On-Demand tutorials in IA Fundamentals, IMO and Web and optional virtual courses.

Can I attend public classes through a Professional Service Plan (PSP)?

- Yes! All 100 & 200 courses and bundles are available through a PSP except Power User bundles.
- Ask your trainers for more information on Professional Service Plans and they'll get you to the right place!

Can I speak with a trainer if I still have questions?

- Absolutely! LexisNexis training is happy to chat and ensure you are on the right learning path.
- Contact LexisNexis training at LNTraining@lexisnexis.com.
