

IBA Publications Available on LexisNexis®

As a result of its relationship with the IBA, LexisNexis recently made available important IBA resources online – a collection of arbitration and alternative dispute (ADR) articles selected from various IBA newsletters and publications.

The IBA Arbitration and ADR Newsletters file contains a collection of arbitration and alternative dispute resolution articles selected by the International Bar Association (IBA) from its newsletters and publications, including:

- Newsletter of the Arbitration Committee of the IBA
- International Bar News (IBN)
- Business Law International (BLI)
- International Business Lawyer (IBL)

This file contains authoritative articles and analysis covering developments, trends and other items of interest to practitioners in international arbitration and ADR. Articles published since January 2001 are available and will be updated regularly.

The conversion of printed materials into the digital format was funded by LexisNexis, which is the only online commercial service to offer these articles. Related sources available at lexis.com® include International Arbitration: Mealey's Litigation Report and Martindale-Hubbell's International Dispute Resolution Directory.

#