International Copyright Law and Practice

Paul Edward Geller, General Editor

This annually updated treatise integrates the global analysis of international copyright with in-depth chapters on national laws. A leading European copyright practitioner and commentator states:

"Whoever operates in this field beyond national borders cannot, and should not, do so without using this book."

—Wilhelm Nordemann, Book Review, 25 IIC 132 at 134

In his framework chapter, the General Editor explains how, systematically, to analyze the protection of copyright and related rights in cross-border cases. He treats, most notably, conflicts of laws, domestic and treaty grounds for protection, the scope of international protection, and chain of title worldwide. Another framework chapter explains how European law conditions the exploitation of copyright and related rights throughout the European Union. National experts, in their respective chapters, explain the copyright laws of Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, China, France, Germany, Greece, Hong Kong, Hungary, India, Israel, Italy, Japan, Korea, the Netherlands, Poland, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

To facilitate research, these chapters follow a common outline, treating the following issues:

- Criteria and categories of protected works; special cases: titles, designs, software, etc.
- Other protected matters: performances, recordings, databases, integrated circuits
- Initial holders of rights; rules governing transfers; special contractual provisions
- Procedures for registration, establishing royalty rates, and administering claims
- Rules applicable to foreigners' claims and to foreign works and media productions
- Terms, types, and scopes of moral and economic rights; criteria of infringement
- Exceptions; legal licenses; and civil, criminal, and administrative remedies

NEW! Patent Commentaries Analyzing the America Invents Act

Will help corporate and outside counsel understand the impact of the Leahy-Smith America Invents Act (AIA). The Act, signed by President Obama on September 16, 2011, is regarded as the most significant patent reform act since 1952 and it is going to have a tremendous impact on patent practitioners and patent-intensive corporations. It shifts the U.S. from a "First to Invent" system to a "First Inventor to File" system in March 2013, effectively harmonizing U.S. patent law with international patent practice. The product provides analysis on the rolling effective dates of different provisions and guidance if companies should file patent applications while the old law is still in effect.
