PRIMARY LAW

Code of Virginia

Virginia practitioners know there is only one source they trust for annotated Virginia primary law—Code of Virginia. Used by the state courts and legislature, it is the official code for up-to-date, comprehensive sources to annotated Virginia primary law. It contains:

- The official state statutes, fully annotated
- A comprehensive index, replaced annually
- Fully annotated cumulative supplements published by July 1 each year
- Annotation citator
- Annotations based on state and federal cases, selected unpublished opinions of the Court of Appeals of Virginia and Virginia Circuit Court opinions, attorney general opinions and select law reviews
- All case citations Shepardized™ for accuracy

LexisNexis also publishes an Advance Code Service (ACS) and Advance Legislative Service (ALS). The ACS is published three times per year, providing annotations to the most current case law. The ALS gives you the latest session laws as they are passed, along with handy tables showing you what sections of the code are affected.

New Appleman on Insurance: Current Critical Issues in Insurance Law

Jeffrey Thomas, Laura A. Foggan, Marc Maister, William Barker, Doug Richmond, Robyn L. Anderson, Mark Plumer, Mary Beth Forshaw, Timothy P. Law, Kenneth C. Newa, and many more leading practitioners and scholars

A new “hot topics” publication that addresses the most urgent challenges facing insurance law practitioners. Its incisive articles focus either on current hot topics or recurring and yet unresolved issues in insurance law practice, and many are accompanied by 50-state surveys on the position of each state’s law on the subject issue. The articles are written by practitioners and scholars of the highest caliber who take well-reasoned positions on today’s controversial issues in insurance law.
