Dear Professor:

LexisNexis is proud to provide transformative, high-quality educational content in a format that suits your teaching style and accommodates a mobile environment for your students. Most LexisNexis® titles are published in a number of formats, including eBook and loose-leaf, in addition to their casebound or softbound format. Many also offer supplemental teaching materials. Look for titles noted with a TM (teaching materials) designation.

This catalog highlights New Titles Coming Soon (anticipated January–July release), as well as identifiers for pending new editions. In addition:

- The Skills & Values Series titles to help you integrate experiential learning materials into your courses
- The Study Aid Series titles (Guide To, Questions & Answers and Understanding) for you to recommend to your students for additional class and exam preparation
- The Graduate Tax Series titles for advanced and LLM tax courses
- The Foundations of Law Series titles
- The Federal Constitutional Law Modular Series titles
- Titles available for course adoption from NITA® and AHLA®

Review copies are available 24/7 in eBook format on the LexisNexis® Digital Library for Professor Review Copies. This resource continues to be updated as new content and new editions become available. For further information, you can also go to our Law School Publishing book-focused website at www.lexisnexis.com/lsp or contact the Publishing Representative for your school (listed on page 3).

With multiple versions of hundreds of books available and multiple cost-saving options for your students, when choosing the book to adopt for your course, there should be only one choice:

LexisNexis® Law School Publications!

Note: Dates reflected are anticipated release dates as of 12/2014 and are subject to change. New editions and new titles noted within the catalog copy are anticipated to release between January and July 2015. New editions and new titles expected after July are listed separately.

I PREPARE STUDENTS FOR TESTS THEY'LL FACE IN THE COURTROOM—NOT JUST THE CLASSROOM.

LexisNexis goes beyond books to offer tools that fit every teaching and learning style.

LexisNexis® Courtroom Cast powered by Courtroom View Network takes your students inside real courtrooms through videos of the proceedings.

Before they face their first judge and jury, you want your students to know what to expect. Now they can experience what going to court is really like with Courtroom Cast videos. These aren't reenactments, but real cases. Unlike reading about a case, they can see how counsel responds under pressure and the dynamics that occur between key players. Make the experience of going to court come alive for your students with LexisNexis® Courtroom Cast.

Also available:

Courtroom Cast Training helps students enhance specific litigation skills with video clips of attorneys in action, plus analysis and commentary.

Audio versions of judicial opinions that every law student needs to know are available in downloadable MP3 files.

LexisNexis Courtroom Cast is available in school-wide subscriptions. Ask your Law School Publishing Representative.

NEXT TO MY CLASS, EXPERIENCE IS THE BEST TEACHER OF THE RULES OF EVIDENCE.

LexisNexis® goes beyond books to offer tools that fit the diverse learning styles of your students.

Evidence Challenge powered by Lexis Advance® gives students the opportunity to practice applying the rules of evidence in a realistic virtual courtroom scenario.

When they enter this Web-based courtroom, they analyze pieces of information gathered from characters and objects to respond to questions that can have a variety of outcomes. Take your students beyond knowing the rules of evidence and give them practical experience applying them.

Evidence Challenge is accessible through enhanced eBook versions of select evidence-based textbooks, or as a standalone study aid.

Federal Constitutional Law Modular Series

The Constitutional Law Modular Series is intentionally designed to break the mold of the traditional casebook. Course materials consist of one or more separate volumes selected from among a larger and growing set of volumes. Each of those volumes is relatively short, so that the professor may “mix and match” a suitable number of volumes for a course of varying length and focus. Each volume is designed to serve an instructional purpose rather than as a treatise. Each of the volumes in the Series is published in soft cover. The associated DVD included with each volume contains full, searchable text of several of the most important resources for interpreting the Constitution, lowering the wall between doctrinal courses and research courses. Cases and materials that shed additional light on matter in the casebook are also included. The titles in this Series include:

Introduction to Interpretive Methods and Introduction to the Federal Judicial Power, Volume 1 (2008)

(Pub. #03261) Thomas H. Odom

Skills & Values Series

The Skills & Values Series materials are subject-specific, practice-oriented books and corresponding online content supported by LexisNexis® Web Courses. Together, the book and the Web Course are designed as a tool for professors to teach practical and analytical skills that can help students serve future clients competently, skillfully and in an ethical manner, and also help students self-assess their work.

Each of the Skills & Values Series books has a corresponding Adoption Model Web Course for you to review and a special code to access that Web Course. When you adopt a Skills & Values title for your class, another Web Course pre-populated with all of the materials included in the Adoption Model Course will be created for you and your students to use.

Select books in this section noted with SVC are available for purchase by individual chapter (PDF format) from the LexisNexis Store at an extremely affordable price. Offering these exercises by chapter can help you incorporate skills materials into your curriculum in a gradual, thoughtful way. In addition, professors and students who use the chapter material also may have access to the online, multi-media content upon request. Our expanding line of titles includes:
