

The first place to go for medical and legal research that meets your medical malpractice challenges

The LexisNexis MedMal Navigator[®] tool gives you quick access to the critical medical and legal information you need to evaluate complex medical malpractice cases. Combine your case facts with unmatched content to develop winning strategies and ensure that you're prepared to meet the challenges of an unprecedented world.

With LexisNexis MedMal Navigator, you can:

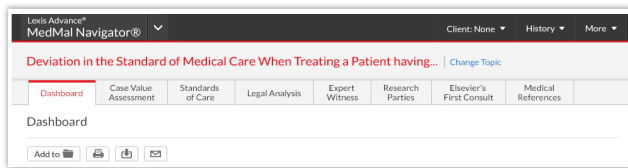

- Access premier medical information and legal research in one place
- Understand the medical issues relevant to your case quickly
- Determine the applicable standard of care and if any deviations occurred
- Locate and research experts by medical condition and jurisdiction
- Compare similar verdicts and settlements to assess the value of your case

// Attorneys can determine in 20 minutes versus 20 days if a case is worth taking on. This tool is a powerful, one-stop solution for malpractice attorneys. //

Now LexisNexis MedMal Navigator is even better.

Navigate between the dashboard pods quickly without ever leaving the tool.

Conduct your medical and legal research more easily with improved integration and navigation. The new navigation ribbon at the top of every MedMal Navigator® screen allows instant access to any pod from any area of the tool.

Seamless integration means you can continue to work within the tool and access exceptional content across Lexis Advance®, including Research Parties and Expert Witnesses.

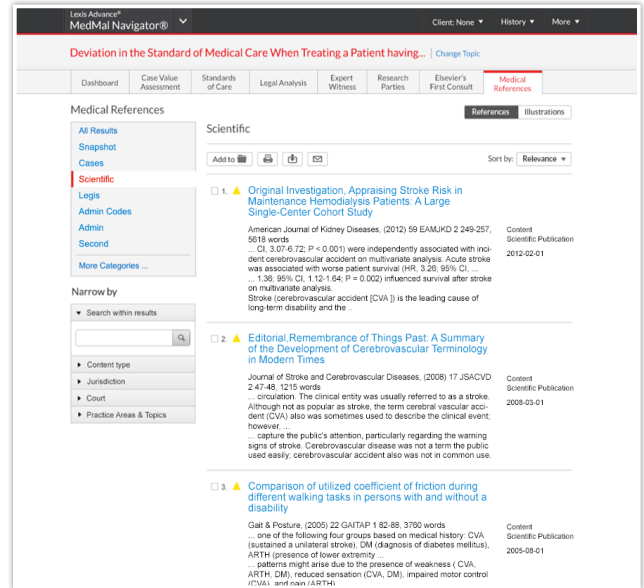

Determine what's relevant to your case faster.

The research assistant has evolved. Now, in both the Case Value Assessment and the Standard of Care pods, you can access questions and answers in any order and view results to any question instantly.

Improvements in the interactive research assistant accelerate case value assessment and standard of care research. Access questions in any order and view the results for any question instantly to zero in on the most relevant questions and answers. This capability guides your research path faster and more efficiently.

Gain easier access to unmatched medical content.

Get faster and easier access to vital medical journals, abstracts and illustrations. Access them in the new Medical References tab in the navigation ribbon at the top of every MedMal Navigator screen.

The Medical Research pod is now called Elsevier's First Consult pod, where you will continue to access our complete database of medical topics from Elsevier®, the world's leading provider of science and health information.
