Ready to get started?

Review, customize and save documents.

When you select a topic, tabs offering practical guidance, relevant forms and primary law display automatically.

Roll over the colored topic bars and see how easy it is to access the documents you need and begin drafting.

The screenshot displays the Lexis Practice Advisor interface for the topic "Employees vs. Independent Contractors" under "Corporate Counsel / Labor and Employment Law".

Snapshot View: The main content area shows a "Snapshot" of the topic. It includes an "Overview" section with text explaining the classification of workers and a "Forms" section listing a "Sample Independent Contractor Agreement".

Document View: A secondary window shows the "Document: Sample Consulting Agreement". The document text includes placeholders for dates, names, and addresses. A "Drafting Notes" pop-up window is visible, providing a "Drafting Note to Clause 1" that suggests referencing a separate description of services instead of a separate clause.

Navigation: A sidebar on the left contains a "Topics" menu with options like "Forms", "Practice Notes", "Cases", "Statutes & Legislation", "Secondary Materials", and "Emerging Issues".
