Quickly verify work and more accurately pinpoint the right facts when you draft memoranda, briefs and other legal research documents with the new Shepard's Brief Suite tools.

Shepard's Brief Suite, easily accessed from one toolbar, locates and provides authoritative Shepard's validation, gives guidance on format, automatically creates Tables of Authorities and inserts Shepard's hyperlinks to internal documents.

Designed to help you save valuable time spent researching, drafting and reviewing legal documents, select from the toolbar to:

- Uncover potential trouble spots as you draft — Shepard's Link[™]
- Match your work to Bluebook standards —Shepard's[®] StyleCheck[™]
- Verify citations and quotations in one step —Shepard's[®] BriefCheck[™]
- Create a table of authorities cited in a brief — Shepard's[®] FullAuthority[®]

In this, Part II of a two-part article, the focus is on the remaining two tools, Shepard's BriefCheck and Shepard's FullAuthority. Part I of this article focused on Shepard's Link and Shepard's StyleCheck.

Shepard's BriefCheck (formerly known as CheckCite[®]) collects your brief's case-law and law-review citations, verifies them through Shepard's[®] Citations Service and Auto-Cite[®] and generates a summary report that tags problem cites for immediate attention. Plus, it ensures all quoted case law conforms to the actual reported or existing language in the case-law opinion. Not only are quote errors reported, your BriefCheck report also provides the correct language.

To use Shepard's BriefCheck for the document you are viewing:

1. Click the Shepard's BriefCheck checkmark button. You can identify a client or matter. Default verification options are selected. To change options for Shepard's, Auto-Cite or quote-checking, click Modify. Check and uncheck specific options, then click OK. If options have changed, you can save the new option set.
2. Click OK.
3. View your citations list. You can add, delete or modify cites and view document quotes.
4. Click Create Report.
5. View your Summary Report. Problem areas are in bold for fast review.
6. Select Expand All from the View menu to display signal links.

Shepard's FullAuthority prepares each cite for the table by underlining reporter abbreviations, case names and histories, and even locating short forms. It also offers options that make it easy to:

- combine long- and short-form citations.
- add reporters, specify alternative spellings.
- choose table criteria, alphabetize by defendant or public party name.
- sort by category.
- remove explanatory second parentheticals.
- expand abbreviations.
- correct simple punctuation errors.

To create a table of authorities for the brief you are viewing:

1. Click the brown Shepard's FullAuthority bench button. Default table options are selected. To change the options, select Properties. Click to check or uncheck options under Sort, Edit, Search and Format. Click OK. If options have changed, you can save the new option set.
2. View your table.
3. Be sure to save your table of authorities.
