Lexis[®] Analytics Hong Kong

Lexis® Analytics Hong Kong

What legal issues are involved in my case?

Your AI Powered Legal Analysis Companion

Kickstart your legal research journey with Lexis[®] Analytics Hong Kong and meet your AI powered assistant who you can turn to for legal analysis in litigation to stay ahead of the game. It analyzes your case, ascertains patterns based on rich case law data and discerns the relevant cases for your brief with robust AI analytics in split seconds. It reminds you of any critical legal points and details in litigation that you may have missed out on. You could then tailor-make your litigation strategies with insightful recommendations to address key legal issues and act swiftly on research outcomes to have a competitive edge.

Entering Your Brief

Entering your brief: Simply enter your English brief, case facts, such as your statement of claim, and click 'Analyse' to let the AI work its magic. You can enter up to a total of 5,000 characters into the box.

Tip: The more detailed the brief, the better the analysis! We recommend you to enter your brief with professional terms and a clear illustration of the context for higher relevancy in the results. Your brief could cover key facts, cause of action, legal issues and scenarios etc., so the AI could provide more relevant case analysis in your context. For confidentiality of your legal matters, you are suggested to redact sensitive or privileged information of your case before you submit to AI for better security.

Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research streamlined the results page by empowering you to navigate your search results by jurisdiction, keywords, timeline, court etc. It creates a new standard for research, while enhancing its fundamental components.

Set up an Alert for your search across content types. Click the bell icon to set up your customized alert.

Refine your search. For more focused results, filter by:

- Jurisdiction, it covers Hong Kong and other commonwealth jurisdictions. Click International (snapshot) to see an overview of the relevant results across multiple jurisdictions at once.
- Content type, e.g. select from legislation, secondary materials and more.

Sort documents. Use this pull-down box to re-sort by relevance, date and court, etc. To change your default order, select Edit Default Order.

Search Term Maps add colour coding to your search words. The colours display as markers on the Search Term Location Bars you see in results lists and in full-text. The star indicates the best cluster of search terms. Each term and/or phrase—up to five—is highlighted in different colours. If you enter more than five terms/phrases, the terms will be highlighted in one colour only.

NOTE: If you do not see the colour coding on your results screen, select the Graphical View icon in the upper-right corner of your results screen.

If certain keywords are missing from the results, the dashboard will highlight it for your reference. If you want the system to include it, choose must include for your keywords.

To include or exclude keywords within your search, use the Search within Results box on the left navigation bar.

Extra options for you to filter by

- Court, different levels of court in respective jurisdictions
- Date, i.e. slide the timeline or enter dates.

To add filters, check a filter box. To remove the filters, just uncheck the filter box or click the X icon or clear all filters.

Lexis Answers is an AI-powered feature on Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research that provides answers to your legal research questions with citable authorities. Instead of just providing documents with potentially relevant sections highlighted, Lexis Answers extracts and delivers a direct answer to your legal question, along with a finely tuned document-based results list.

Enter your query in the form of a natural language search, such as what are the elements of the tort of inducing a breach of contract. You do not have to translate your question into keywords or use Boolean syntax.

Lexis Answers is currently available on Hong Kong Cases results lists of Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research when our Al-driven intelligence identifies documents that directly answer your question.

Search Term Maps

With patented and award-winning Lexis[®] Search Term Maps, the power of data visualization helps you quickly find the most relevant cases for your issue.

Search Term Maps on the Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research is a legal research visualization feature that analyzes the data and presents it in a graphical format. Every document is mapped with your search terms, so you can easily identify patterns and the largest concentration of your search terms within the document. Search Term Maps are available when viewing results in most of the content categories on Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research. To view the Search Term Maps, click the Graphical view button at the top right corner of the results list.

When you have this view enabled, you see Search Term Maps on the results list and while viewing full text documents.

	Libertarian Investments Ltd v Thomas Alexej Hall 14. Millett LJ explained that (a) not every breach of duty by a fiduciary (such as a company director) is a breach of a fiduciary duty; (b) it is inappropriate to apply the terms breach of fiduciary duty, for example, to the failure of a trustee or other fiduciary, such as a director, to use proper skill and care in the discharge of his duties and (c) the circumstance that the source of this and other obligations of directors lies in equity does not make the obligations fiduciary duties. [35] However, in the indorsement the term 'fiduciary' is used not in its strict sense, but more broadly to encompass the established or asserted equitable duties of a director to act
	Missing: "security for costs" Must include: ""security for costs""

When Search Term Maps is selected, Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research displays a term visualization bar and a preview paragraph in the results list. The visualization bar displays the colour designated to every search term and identifies the section in which the terms appear within the document. This makes it easier to identify the section within the case that has the highest concentration of your search terms.

The visualization bar is dynamic; when you click a colour, the preview paragraph automatically displays the section you selected from the visualization bar. The blue star symbol in the visualization bar indicates the best snippet from the document based on a proprietary algorithm.

Note: In the Results List view, the term visualization bar does not show every term hit and shows top hits only. The value of the bar is that you can see at a glance which of your terms are showing up in top hit excerpts, navigate to the most important of those excerpts, and get more context around your hits.

Visualization Bar in a Full Text Document

The visualization bar appears on the left side of the page and is dynamic; when you click a colour, the preview paragraph automatically displays the section you selected from the visualization bar.

If the visualization bar is not visible, click Search Terms to expand the panel.

Note: If Table of Contents is also an option, click to toggle between the visualization bar and the table of contents. Only one can appear at a time.

MOULIN GLOBAL EYECARE HOLDINGS LTD (IN LIQ) v LEE SIN MEI OLIVIA (NO 3) - [2014] 6 HKC 220 🥔

Search Term Maps display in multicolour. You can make the highlighting a monochrome colour by clicking Multicolor highlighting under All Terms. If you run a Search Within Results, those terms are highlighted yellow, regardless of the multicolour or monochrome selection.

Note: If your search query contains more than 5 term units, Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research automatically changes the option from multicolour to monochrome colour.

Search Tree

The Search Tree on Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research displays exactly how the terms in your search were applied and how those relationships impacted your results. The Search Tree provides a graphical representation of the background process to determine the ultimate number of results you get from your search.

The search tree displays as follows:

- While viewing results, click the Search Tree button 💑 to the right of your search terms at the top of the results list
- The search tree displays when you use the Edit Search feature
- The search tree automatically displays when your search returns no results

Note: The Search Tree is not available when you are searching within the table of contents for a source. It is only available when you are searching for documents. The information below describes how the Search Tree displays for natural language and terms & connectors or Boolean searches.

Natural Language

A natural language search is run using a search algorithm and retrieves results based on the relevance of your terms. Some documents may not contain all the terms you entered based on the way the algorithm weighs the importance of the entered terms.

The graphical representation displays the terms and the number of results for each term, then information about how many results have all terms within the document, a paragraph, or a sentence. You can deselect 1 or more of the terms to exclude those terms from the search.

Note: The Search Tree will not display when there are more than 5 terms in the search.

- Level 3 shows how many documents contain all your terms within the same sentence or paragraph, and the number of documents that include all your terms.

Terms & Connectors (Boolean)

In a terms & connectors search, the search runs and looks for the terms according to the relationships you defined with the connectors in your search. Search Tree provides a graphical representation of the background process to determine the ultimate number of results you get from your search.

Each part of your search is represented in a box that displays how many results would be retrieved if only that part of the search was run. Each level of the interactive tree indicates how each part of the search is run until the last level displays the final result count of the full search.

Hover your cursor over the any of the oval boxes to see the search that would be run to retrieve that Document Count and click to run the search.

Case Target is a GPT-powered tool designed to point you to the right cases to refer to. By intelligently synthesizing your search results, it delivers concise summaries of the relevant Hong Kong cases, surfaces the pertinent explanatory passages, and provides a snapshot of subsequent treatment and co-citation, all at the click of a button.

The Summary section lists down legislations that are most cited in the distilled list of cases from your refined search.

Case Features

When you view a full-text case, even lengthy cases, you can navigate quickly to the facts you need with our new intuitive features.

You could read specific document parts by clicking it. It covers case summary, holdings of court, judges name etc. By clicking the judges name, the platform will automatically bring you to the specific passages that the judge has written. The toolbar will move alongside with you when you scroll. Or slide the "scroller" to move through the document.

- B Hover over colour markers or clusters to see which terms are depicted and the location of those terms. Click on the colour marker or cluster to move to those terms in full text.
- CaseBase Signal shows the subsequent treatment of a case. You could refer to the key below for details.

Negative treatment

Warning – Negative treatment indicated. A negative (red) signal is given to decisions which have been subsequently reversed, disapproved or overruled.

Cautionary treatment

Caution – Questioning or distinguishing treatment indicated. A cautionary (yellow) signal is given to decisions which have been subsequently distinguished, explained, not followed, questioned or varied.

Positive treatment

Positive treatment indicated. A positive (green) signal is given to decisions which have been subsequently applied, approved, followed or affirmed.

Neutral treatment

Neutral or citing treatment indicated. A neutral signal is given to decisions which have been either considered or cited (also 'referred to' or 'discussed').

Citation information

Link to CaseBase entry. A citation information signal is given to decisions for which there is only citation information available.

- Copy the case citation for your work and include a link to the full-text case.
- G Change law reports. Click the links of other case citations.
- H Move among the table of contents of law reports. Click right arrow to move to Next document or left arrow to Previous document.
- Click Court Ready PDF to download the pdf version of the reported judgment.

The Folders feature allows you to store and organize searches, documents and notes. Enhance team co-operation by saving and sharing your work seamlessly. The folders you create and any items you store in them remain in Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research indefinitely.

By clicking the Folders link on the top, it would bring you to the Folders page.

You can view your folders (and their contents) on the Folders page. Information about the folder is displayed, such as when it was created or last modified. In addition, information about each item in the folder is displayed.

At any time after creating a folder, you can add one or more notes to it. A portion of the most recently added note appears below the folder name in the My Folders list.

When you click a specific folder, any of its subfolders are shown at the top of the list, and any items included in the folder you are viewing are listed below. Information about each item is listed below the item's title.

To view the contents of a folder, click the folder name. Its contents are displayed in the main pane of the page.

You can manage your folders and their contents by doing any of the following:

- Renaming the folder
- Moving or copying the folder to another folder
- Downloading the folder
- Sharing the folder or its items with others
- Creating a permanent link to this page
- View all folder notes in their entirety and/or to add, edit, or delete notes.
- Deleting the folder

Searching the folder to find items containing a specific word or phrase.

Printing, emailing, or downloading folder items. You could save your authorities in the folder. When you download it, after changing the style and format, it could be used as List of Authorities for your case. Your list of authorities are automatically hyperlinked.

The options you have are:

- The Access Later ($) folder allows you to save a document that is outside your subscription plan, to buy at a later date.
- The Shared by Me folder contains items that you have shared with other people in your organization.
- The Shared by Others folder contains items that have been shared with you by other people in your organization.
- The Recycle Bin stores your deleted folder or item for up to 30 days. During that time, you can restore it to its original location or permanently delete it. After it remains in the Recycle Bin for 30 days, Lexis+[®] Hong Kong Legal Research automatically deletes it permanently.

An alert is a search that runs automatically and notifies you of any new results.

You can review all of your alerts from the Alerts pod by selecting Alerts on the top.

For some topics, you may want to set an Alert so that you can be notified when new results are available. Alerts can be set on searches or on publications. To set an Alert on a search you have conducted, simply click the Alert icon () next to your search terms from the results page. From there, you are prompted to name the alert as well as set the frequency and other specifics. Multiple content types can be combined in the same alert.

Tip: You can also share an Alert by simply entering the email address of the LexisNexis[®] user with whom you want to share.

You can create the following types of alerts:

- Search: These alerts notify you when any new documents meet your search criteria.
- Topic: These alerts notify you if and when any new documents are associated with a selected topic.
- Publication: These alerts notify you if any new documents were added to the publication source in which you searched.

After you have created an alert, you could edit, delete, pause or restart an alert.

You can search your saved alerts to find a particular alert, search terms, or other words or phrases. Type the words you want to search for and select Search. For example, you can enter the name (or part of the name) of an alert, a term or terms from a previous search, a client ID, and so on. Your results list is filtered to show only those results that contain the term on which you searched.
