

Independent Study Finds Next-Generation Lawyers Choose Lexis Advance®

New lawyers across the U.S. prefer Lexis Advance to Westlaw® according to a new independent research study.

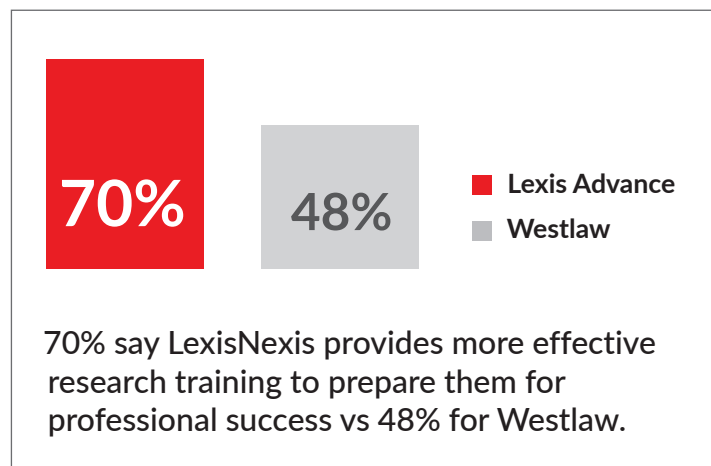

Highlights of the Next-Gen Legal Tech Study

Top 5 reasons driving legal tech preference:

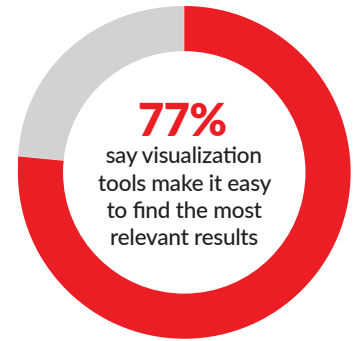

1. Ease of use
2. Finding information quickly
3. Appearance/design is attractive
4. Search returns expected results
5. Depth and breadth of content

LexisNexis prepares new lawyers for success.

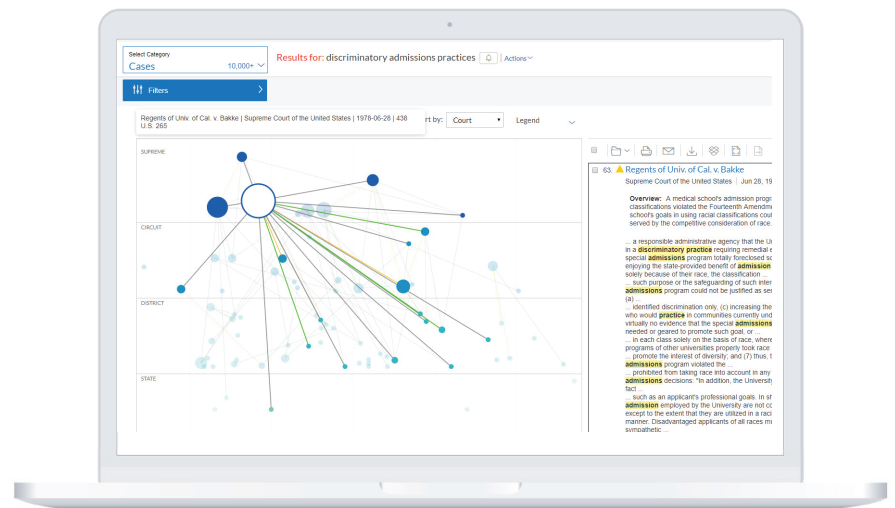

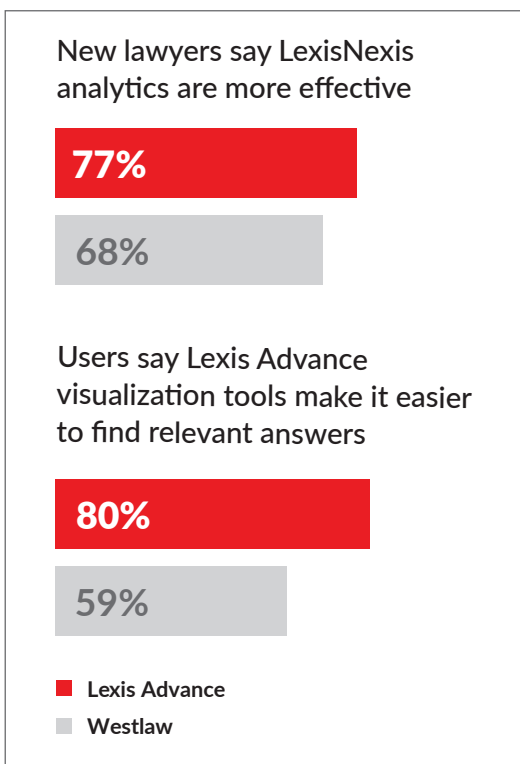

Cost and competitive pressures are rising each year, and firms are looking for ways to make new associates productive and contribute to the bottom-line faster.

Next-gen lawyers are embracing visualization and analytics tools to obtain deeper insights.

Lexis Advance users are benefiting more from legal analytics and visualization tools than Westlaw users.

Lexis Advance visualization tools identify connections that might otherwise go unnoticed.

Next-gen lawyers choose Lexis Advance

In an increasingly competitive market, Lexis Advance® is redefining legal research, delivering sophisticated visualization, analytics and decision tools that help our customers make more informed decisions, get better results and be more productive. The next generation of lawyers has noticed. It's time for law firms to take another look.

Law firms need to anticipate and prepare for the rapidly changing dynamic that next-gen lawyers will bring to their firms in the coming years. Firms that embrace these changes now will be better able to attract and retain the best and brightest minds and position themselves for future success.

Independent study of 5,061 U.S. law students was conducted by PwC research commissioned by LexisNexis. Learn More at LexisNexis.com/NextGen

