New York Legal Trends to Watch in 2026

What's moving the Empire State bar right now, and the LexisNexis® resources that help you move faster.

E-Filing Everywhere

The statewide e-filing system (NYSCEF) keeps expanding, pulling more trial courts into mandatory digital submission. Paper filings are quickly fading and familiarity with e-filing protocols is now essential to avoid rejections and delays.

Remote Court Is Standard

Virtual appearances are here for good. The New York Unified Court System continues refining its virtual platform and attorneys must balance courtroom advocacy with new standards for online appearances and procedures.

New York Supreme Court Commercial Division Goes Federal Style

Mandatory initial disclosures in the New York Supreme Court Commercial Division are changing how litigators prepare cases. Early disclosure means earlier strategy, negotiation and risk assessment, mirroring federal practice more than ever.

Algorithmic Pricing Joins the Rulebook

New York's consumer laws now target AI and data-driven pricing systems. Businesses using algorithms to tailor or adjust prices must disclose it, creating new compliance challenges and a need for careful contract review.

AI Hiring Tools Face Bias Scrutiny

Automated decision tools are under intense legal and regulatory focus. New York City's Local Law 144 demands bias audits and transparent communication to candidates, forcing employers to rethink how they deploy AI in hiring.

Housing Law Shake-Up

Good Cause Eviction and the new ban on algorithmic rent-setting tools are reshaping landlord-tenant dynamics statewide. The result is more litigation, stricter compliance and closer attention to local exceptions.

Cyber Rules for Financial Institutions Tighten

The New York Department of Financial Services Cybersecurity Regulation keeps tightening with new requirements for governance, incident response and multi-factor authentication. Financial institutions must prove they are compliant in both documentation and practice.

Climate Compliance Heats Up

New York City's Local Law 97 is enforcing real emissions limits on buildings over 25,000 square feet. Property owners face fines and costly retrofits, driving legal work around energy reporting, real estate and environmental compliance.

From e-courts to climate compliance, New York's legal landscape keeps evolving. Stay current and ready for what is next with trusted New York titles from the LexisNexis® Store.

The End of Paper Filings: How New York's E-Filing Expansion Is Reshaping Litigation in 2026

As New York State Courts Electronic Filing System (NYSCEF) becomes the default for nearly all civil matters, this blog offers clear guidance on new filing requirements, county variations and what practitioners should prepare for next. ## PROMOTIONAL TERMS

Prices listed on the LexisNexis® Store are before shipping and tax are calculated; shipped to a U.S. address. Prices are subject to change without notice. The eBook versions may feature links to the Lexis+® or Lexis® service for further legal research. A valid subscription to either service is required to access this content. Sales to federal government customers may be subject to specific contract pricing. Booksellers and distributors/resellers are excluded from any discounting.

Select titles, including third-party publications, A.S. Pratt® publications and Matthew Bender® Elite products are not discounted when purchased on the LexisNexis® Store, even with an advertised promotion/offer. Additional discounts may be available to customers who subscribe to both online and print products; call 800.223.1940 for more information and to verify qualifications, subject to your employer's policies. Any discounting is contingent on maintaining all your subscriptions and accounts with LexisNexis and its affiliates; if any such existing business is canceled, LexisNexis may modify such process to reduce or eliminate any discounts. Void where prohibited. Other restrictions may apply, see lexisnexis.com/StoreTerms.
