🔀 Featured Tip

Looking for prospects but don't have a name?

Your LexisNexis for Development Professional subscription enables you to obtain names for potential prospects. To get a list of names based on a specific college or university, follow these easy steps, also shown in the screenshot below:

- 1. From the Individual tab, in the Additional Terms field, enter Education(Ohio State Univ!).
- 2. Select the following boxes:
 - Executive Profiles
 - Zoom People Info
 - Marquis Who's Who
 - Other Biographical Sources
- 3. Click the Submit button, then toggle between your tabs to obtain your results.

It's a fast, easy way to find names of individuals, along with the organizations with which they are associated – currently or in the past. Download a copy of this tip for future reference. http://bit.ly/1AD2B1i

Content News

Finding reliable and up-to-date information on executives and other leaders within non-U.S. corporations is often difficult and time-consuming. To address this, LexisNexis for Development Professionals regularly enhances its collection of international news and business publications. The latest addition to your subscription is the Official Board Biographies.

Based in France, the Official Board is a membership site that maintains the most comprehensive database directory of corporate organizational charts. It lists the first reporting levels (Board, N-1 & N-2) for any public or private companies making over $100M in annual revenue. Offering an organizational chart for each company and an online mini-biography for each executive, Biographies features companies operating in over 90 industries across more than 200 countries and is updated weekly.

This title is automatically included in your search when you select Company Information or Executive Profiles from the Individual tab or Company Information on the Company tab. You can search this title directly by using the Advanced tab.
